Vol I, 8

Commentaries and legends are in final form for the maps: 138 homme, 139 femme (Timuška), 453 famille, 454 parents, 455 père, 465 grand-père, 467 grand-mère (Mrs. Brietz), 469 gendre, 470 bru (Mrs. Donadze), 462 jumeaux (Nartnik). The final version for the map ALE 340 pomme de terre (J. Škofic) has already been delivered in Dubrovnik. The material, digitalised by A. Versloot, has already been organised into classes, according to the etymological criterion by J. Škofic, Dr. Versloot has reorganised/simplified it into classes (for digitalised version) according only to motivational criterion, which was also the discussing point of the presentation.

The following Committee for ALE Digitalisation was formed: Saramandu (president), Versloot, Mrs. Brozović, Mrs. Nevaci, Mrs. Radu and Mrs. Škofic.

For reorganizing the national committees it was decided that data should be sent via e-mail after a careful analysis of the information regarding the active ALE members.

5. Varia

The participants discussed the parallel realization of the digitalised and printed version, taking into account the short form of the commentary for the digitalised version. There were brought into discussion several problems about Il Poligrafico, problems related to the working time, to the correlation between the symbols and the maps' legend, to the publishing house's policy to have exclusive copyright on the printing material. The advantages of the ALE digitalised version were emphasised: shorter working time, availability of information, cost reduction.

The ALE participants (Watson, Contini) proposed carrying on with the project in a new form, so that there could be obtained finances from the European organisms for publishing the volumes under editing.

Saramandu suggested that there should exist a record of the reviews (bibliography) for the already published volumes.

In the end of the ALE meeting Saramandu, the ALE president, gave his warm thanks to the organisers, Mrs. Dunja Brozović and her co-workers, for the excellent working conditions offered to the participants.

The tour of the city Dubrovnik and the organised trip to Cavtat ended the ALE programme.

The Editorial Board meeting organised in Dubrovnik was preceded by a work meeting at the „Institut za hrvatski jezik i jezikoslovlje” in Zagreb. Mrs. Brozović, the Institute's headmistress, Saramandu, the ALE president, Mrs. Radu and Mrs. Nevaci from ALE's Central Secretariate took part in this meeting.

6. Next meeting

The 40th ALE Editorial Board Meeting will take place in Macedonia (Skopje or Ohrid), at a date that will be communicated. The decision will be taken by the Macedonian Academy of Science by the end of 2006.

There are other proposals for the next reunions: Scotland (Clement), Albania (Hysa) or The Netherlands (Versloot).
